

EXTRA SPECIAL

To add interest to our display of evening garments and accessories, we offer one special in dresses. These come in sizes for both women and misses. Materials are chiffon, fancy net and other suitable evening stuffs. Both the modified hobble and overskirt styles are seen in the offer. Values range up to $7.50. On sale the balance of the week at

$19.50

The First Fall Function Opening of the Toltec Club

EL PASO'S social season will soon be in full swing. The first function of importance is the opening of the Toltec Club. For the balance of the week, we make a special display of garments for evening wear. Every favorite of Fashion, in both garments and accessories, will be found in the showing.

Evening Dresses $19.50 to $50.00

Fully 300 dresses, suitable for evening wear, will be shown at this price range. Every imaginable style and color is included. These are dresses of chiffon, painted chiffon, nets and other evening materials. In addition to dresses for women, at this price range dresses for the debutantes and misses are shown in a wonderfully wide range of styles.

Evening Dresses from $35 to $75

We have arranged for your inspection, at this price range, the daintiest dresses possible. They are fashioned from the finest Dresden chiffon, bordered radium, crepe de chene, soft, clinging messalines, marquisettes and other novelty materials. Colors are pearl gray, reseda, King blue, light blue, pink, mauve and a host of other lovely shades. Some dresses have corsage in Japanese designs, profusely embellished with silk embroidery, others in surplice effects with tucks and lace edgings. In short, at $35.00 to $75.00, we show a host of clever, fashionable, yet remarkably practical evening dresses. (Misses' sizes also shown.)

Evening Scarfs $2.95 and Up

None of the new fashions has been received with the same amount of enthusiasm as bestowed on the new evening scarfs. They had their origin in Paris. American manufacturers saw the possibilities of this fascinating accessory and have made wonderful improvements over the original idea. We show evening scarfs of satin, delicate pastel shades bordered in marabout. We also show all the novelties in the beautiful Asyrian beaded scarfs, also a wide range of scarfs in crepe de chene and novelty materials. Prices begin at $2.95.

Costumes---$50.00 and Up

Exquisite, exclusive creations in evening gowns, direct from Paris and America's foremost designers! Prominent in the showing are the models from the Brussels Exposition, specially imported for our recent Fashion Show. (These will be offered at considerable price concessions.) In addition to the imported models, the showing of gowns and dresses from America's best designers is of interest. We mention particularly those in the light and dark effects so favored the present season. In these dresses and gowns are seen the American adaptations of foreign models so modified as to appeal to good taste. In this showing are black Chantillys, painted chiffons, marquisettes, satins, brocades and broadcloths in charming colorings. Such costumes as these will mark their wearers anywhere as persons of rare good judgment in the matter of evening attire.

Evening Capes $10 and Up

Evening Capes in exquisite pastel shades, lined and unlined, in every imaginable design, will be found in our special displays the rest of the week. One of the novelties of the season to be shown is a "Cape-Coat" effect.

Evening Wraps $50 and Up

Under this head, we call attention to the new evening coats trimmed in genuine fur. In fact, our showing of one-of-a-kind exclusive novelties in evening wraps has never before been equalled, and is not now in El Paso.

$3 Evening Gloves $1.95

In connection with our special showing of evening attire, we offer for the balance of the week a most unusual value in Evening Gloves. These are White Kid Gloves, 16-button length. These gloves are perfectly proportioned and are made of a superior brand of kid. Such gloves sell in a regular way for $3.00 per pair. We make them an extra special, for the balance of the week, at

BAND CONCERT IS GIVEN AFTER ALL

Some of the Striking Musicians Sued for Mercy and Were Allowed to Play.

"Who went to the band concert?" or "the strike that wasn't" may be the title of what happened Tuesday night, and what didn't happen. Although members of the El Paso municipal band declared a strike on the morning of concert day, and although professor Kindig himself announced through The Herald that there would be no concert, there was an impromptu concert with an incomplete band and a handful of listeners.

History of the big band strike stands out alone in the record of local walk-outs. Because of a misunderstanding about the wages due them for the public trip, members of the Municipal band declared a strike Tuesday morning through Medina, conductor of the Juarez Municipal band, who acts as lieutenant for professor Kindig. So the conductor, professor Kindig, requested The Herald to "call off" the concert. No usual program had been published.

Later in the day, a representative of the strikers went to the house of professor Kindig and offered a verbal flag of peace in the name of the whole aggregation. But the conductor said, "no," and supplemented the remark with other less ordinary words. It appeared that cool and collected consideration of the idea of losing a day's pay was too much for the strikers, and their feet became frigid before the completion of their plans. But professor Kindig stood pat against making monkeys out of the concert goers.

Then in almost a panic, the Mexican musicians sent Medina to argue with alderman S. Blumenthal about it. As an unexpected upshot, the alderman sent orders to the conductor that the band had reported and that the concert was to be held after 8 o'clock by professor Kindig, and he tumbled into his uniform for the 7:30 concert. But it was after 8 o'clock before Medina had collected enough musicians to make a presentable noise, and then the band was not complete enough to produce a standard concert.

As strains of the first selection spread through the Cleveland square, the entire neighborhood turned out, and the benches were filled and a few spots on the grass occupied. The band played less than an hour, rendering six brief selections, chosen by the conductor as they were needed.

So the Municipal bandmen succeeded, in playing peek-a-boe with their conductor, deprived hundreds of citizens of much enjoyment, and all that without losing a moment's salary.

CONCERT BY ARTISTS OF EL PASO.

One of the most artistic musicals ever given in El Paso was that rendered by the artists of El Paso at the El Paso theater Tuesday evening.

The purpose of the concert was to raise funds for the Humane society and many patrons of music rallied to the cause of the dumb animals for whom a plea was made on the souvenir program.

Miss Helen Cooper, an El Paso girl, who lately returned from Europe after studying under some of the best masters, was the favorite, delighting the audience with her fine vocal work. Her high notes are superb, resonant and open, pure in quality, without a trace of harshness, and as sure in pitch as a flute; the effect of her training is shown in her excellent control, her voice being flexible and adaptable to every demand; especially in the Italian aria where her crescendo and diminuendo passages smooth in texture, her scales crystalline, the notes dripping like summer rain on the fronds of a fern; her confidence and stage presence are pleasing and she has the happy faculty of winning her audience from the start; her voice has considerable dramatic possibility, her enunciation is clear, the effect of her singing is not spoiled by mannerisms, and her work intelligently displays the results of a voice culture that wisely develops, not restricts, the individual qualities.

H. H. Miller's rendition of Schubert's serenade gave evidence of excellent technique. He was accompanied by A. F. Sievers, who also rendered two piano selections.

Others who participated in the thoroughly enjoyable program were Francis Moore, Parvin White, Mrs. White, Mrs. W. W. Evans, Mrs. C. E. Pollock, M. H. Lemon, J. E. Rhein, M. H. McCullum, J. G. McNary, and Wallace Morris.

Alexandria Apartments Are Model For Housekeeping

Every Modern Convenience Is Afforded the Tenants in Newest El Paso Plan.

Housekeeping is a complex question. There is the grocery question, the meat question, and a hundred other perplexing, bewildering questions, little and big.

But there is one question which is being solved by science and it is one of the most important. It is the house question. With its solution, the other little problems seem to take wings.

Based on the principle, "Blessed be he who has a kitchen," the scientists have come close with "Blessed be he who has a kitchen," and hence the evolution of the 20th century apartment. In the first place people have for centuries been living in two large quarters for either comfort or economy, and in the second place the men who built the homes didn't know A B C about housekeeping.

Even many housekeepers themselves didn't know. But now comes a cut and dried formula, quite as pretty, just as artistic and a thousand times more comfortable, compact and cozy. What the sleeping car porter does, modern housewives are doing. The French and English have been doing it for a long time. You say, what is this formula? Why, the modern apartment house.

Now, El Paso has a modern apartment house, not only the most thoroughly equipped but quite the most handsome in the whole southwest. It is called the Alexandria, and is located a few blocks from the city at North Oregon and Arizona streets. Nearly everybody has seen the building from the outside, its quaint construction of three stories with tiny colonial panes of glass and Italian scroll work over the French bedroom windows. Here is what is on the inside:

There are 26 apartments, each of three rooms, kitchen and bath, and two first story apartments of four rooms, kitchen and bath each. Such has been the result of a demand as old as modern El Paso for small apartments such as one may obtain in eastern cities. The eight room house for more than one family is a thing of the long, long ago. Privacy and comfort are not found there.

This modern living machine is a combination of detail, to the housekeeper.

To begin with, there are house telephones from the entrance lobby to every floor, a system of bells and individual letter boxes with locks.

Halls of the three stories are especially handsome. Walls are of heavy soft green, woodwork of mahogany and white, beautiful colonial effects. Doors of each apartment are of the mahogany with white framework, which against the green walls forms an especially handsome contrast. Long lung staircases at front and rear of each floor afford easy mounting, and the house telephone system makes a minimum of step-taking.

Each one of the 26 apartments is arranged alike, along a formation considered the most practical. One enters a dining room, or living room, as preferred, connected with another front room by a porch door. The interior room contains a huge bay window, with box window seat, and four sides of glass, plain below and of tiny colonial panes above. The woodwork throughout is of brown mission oak. From the first room entered, one may pass into the kitchen, thence to the bathroom, also connected with the bedroom at the rear. In the sleeping room are two huge French door windows, which when opened, allow a free circuit of air, as if one wall of the room were removed.

In the kitchen and bathroom are found the most perfect of arrangements. The kitchen is really a "kitchenette," an enlarged buffet kitchen, such as are found on parlor cars. It is equipped with a three burner gas stove, many little shelves, a swing down kitchen table, a two faucet sink of white, hot and cold water continually and an ice box. The bathrooms are built of white tiled walls and ceiling, splashing. Tubs and wash basins give a continuous flow of hot and cold water from the house plant, as of the faucets of the kitchen. Over the bathroom wash stand is an inset medicine case and mirror, and every comfort giving detail is there.

Over the stove of every tiny kitchen and over the tub of every bathroom are transoms connected with an air chute which carries the odors to the roof. Every floor is equipped with odorless garbage chutes. Neither ice man nor grocery boy nor meat boy enters the kitchen with muddy boots. There is a little trap door from the hall way and push provisions into the sink board by the side of the ice box.

William Moeller, the agent, has added every detail for occupancy. The basement contains a house washroom, storerooms and the janitor's quarters. There is also a thoroughly modern steam heating plant which will be in operation continually through the winter months, thus assuring the tenants of warm and comfortable apartments day and night, without the trouble and dirt caused by use of the ordinary coal heater or fireplace. Already the apartments of French location are being occupied, many people being attracted by the reasonable rents and the first season begun of El Paso's first 20th century living machine.

EL PASO THEATER.
A musical melange in three acts called "Morning, Noon and Night," is the attraction at the El Paso Sunday and Monday, October 9 and 10. This, says manager Rich, was said to be one of the musical comedy treats of the past season, and although it has never been seen in this territory before, its reputation has preceded it, and it is assured of a warm welcome. Manager Rich says it is a merry concoction blended together with songs and laughter, with just a thread of a story to maintain the small plot and furnish a clean, enjoyable evening's entertainment. Miss Hilda Carle heads the cast, which includes Miss Ethel Hall, Charles Boyd, Sid Abraham, Fred De Forest, Clark Oldfield and Matt Taylor. Among the novelty specialties are "The Military Maids," which manager Rich says is the largest and best drilled girl act before the public today; the military four, harmonists; "The Rehearsal," which he says is an unique offering showing the side of the actor's life when the lights are not brightly shining and where it is a steady grind, and "Christmas Eve at the Club," a sketch filled with beautiful sentiment and clean cut comedy, which manager Rich says is recognized as the prettiest little play of the times. The scenic effects, he says, are in themselves a feature, the scene depicting Ellis Island being declared a masterpiece of the scenic artist. It shows the entrance to the harbor, with Bartholdi's famous statue of liberty in the foreground and the wonderful skyscrapers of New York in the distance, with the electrical effects to carry it out. It is said one can readily believe he is looking at the original instead of a painted reproduction. There are many more novelties, in fact it is a novelty show from start to finish, says manager Rich. A chorus of 20 takes care of some of the prettiest music that has been written in years. The costumes, says the manager, is in keeping with the high standard maintained by the show.

Prices—50c, 75c, $1 and $1.50. Seats on sale Thursday and Monday at 9 a. m. Crawford box office.

RETURN OF THE GLASS PLAYERS.

Manager Rich announces the return of the Glass Stock company to the Crawford theater on Sunday night of this week. The company, he says, will be one of class and established merit, and at the prices should prove a mighty magnet in the way of a crowd winner. The only time "Brown of Harvard" was presented in El Paso was when Harry Woodruff was started at $2 per, and the play at that time gave the greatest satisfaction. It would hardly be just, says manager Rich, to presume that the Glass company can give, or afford to give, a $2 show at 15, 25 and 35-cent prices, but he says it will be a highly pleasing production nevertheless, and patrons will have no reason for other than self-congratulation.

It was two years ago that the Glass organization was in stock in El Paso, yet today, says manager Rich, the company numbers its friends by the hundreds and are remembered most fondly by scores of loyal patrons.

Manager Rich says no better vehicle could be found than "Brown of Harvard," and at the small prices he says there should not be a vacant seat in the theater during the entire week this superb attraction is on the boards. The best way is to make sure early, and that means to get in line on Thursday at the Crawford at 9 o'clock, says manager Rich.

THE MAJESTIC.

Manager Rich says opposition seems to cut no figure with this house, which he says is just going along, giving, he says, the best show ever seen in El Paso at popular prices and always to capacity business. There are two shows nightly, 7:45 and 9 o'clock. Prices 10 and 25 cents.

CRAWFORD THEATER TONIGHT.

The Spanish company that is now appearing at this house played to the largest house in the history of the Crawford last night, and according to manager Rich, turned away over 300 people. The same company tonight again in an entirely new play. The company is an exceptionally large one and the scenery and electrical effects are said by manager Rich to be the finest ever seen in the city. Prices 10, 25, 35 and 50 cents. Seats now selling.

THE WEATHER.

Forecast.
For El Paso and vicinity—Fair tonight and Thursday.

For New Mexico—Fair tonight and Thursday; cooler tonight, with probably light frost in north portion.

For west Texas—Tonight fair, colder in north portion; Thursday fair, colder in southeast portion.

"BEST BY TEST"

HOW TO FIND OUT

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling usually indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. Too frequent desire to urinate, scanty supply, pain or dull ache in the back, should also convince you that the kidneys or bladder are out of order.

Want to Do.
There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, fulfills almost every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold urine, and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate.

The mild, pleasant and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful results in the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine, you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, and a book that tells all about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing be sure to mention that you read this generous offer in the El Paso Daily Herald. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

There's No Use Arguing
